Rachel E. Sachs

Associate Professor of Law
Washington University School of Law

TAYLOR AVENUE BUILDING
600 S. Taylor
Doll & Hill Room #2131

Encouraging New Uses for Old Drugs

Thursday, March 15, 2018
3:00 – 4:00 p.m.

Professor Rachel Sachs is a scholar of innovation policy whose work explores the interaction of intellectual property law, food and drug regulation, and health law. Her work explores problems of innovation and access, considering how law helps or hinders these problems. Professor Sachs' scholarship has appeared in journals that include the New England Journal of Medicine, the Journal of the American Medical Association, the Harvard Journal of Law & Technology, and the University of California-Davis Law Review. Prior to joining the faculty, Professor Sachs was an Academic Fellow at the Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology, and Bioethics and a Lecturer in Law at Harvard Law School. She also clerked for the Hon. Richard A. Posner of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit. She received her J.D. magna cum laude from Harvard Law School and a Master of Public Health from the Harvard School of Public Health. She received her A.B. in Bioethics from Princeton University.