The Global Health Work in Progress (GHWIP) meeting brings together members of the Washington University global health community to learn about each other’s work. People working on a grant, paper or a new idea are encouraged to present their research and get feedback.

Monday, February 3rd | 1:00–2:30 p.m.
Doll & Hill Room | Taylor Avenue Building

Light refreshments will be served.

Featured Presentations

Peripheral Line Infections in Neonatal Care- Incidence and Associated Factors

Evelyn Amoah, MBBS, FWACP
Lecturer, Consultant Pediatrician, Department of Child Health, University of Ghana and Korle Bu Teaching Hospital

Implementing a surveillance system for Surgical Site Infections in a Teaching Hospital in Ghana

Antoinette Bediako-Bowen, PhD
Lecturer, General Surgeon, Department of Surgery, University of Ghana, & Korle Bu Teaching Hospital

Successes and Challenge: A US, India Pharmacy Partnership

Stephanie Lukas, PhD
Associate Director, Office of International Programs; Assistant Professor, Pharmacy Administration, St. Louis College of Pharmacy

Life Unraveling: How Economic Precarity and Chronic Illness Affect Immigrants in France

Carolyn Sargent, PhD
Professor of Sociocultural Anthropology and of Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies, Arts & Sciences at Washington University

To learn more, visit publichealth.wustl.edu/ghwip